February 17, 1974

I do hereby agree to sell all book publication rights to Roger Elwood and Chilton Books in and to my story entitled HOW MANY MILES TO BABYLON. These rights shall be exclusive for a period of three (3) years from the publication of my story in an anthology tentatively entitled YOUNG DREAMERS, DANGER AND STRANGE POWERS. I hereby agree that this story is original with me, has not been published before and will not be published in any form prior to the expiration of the above-mentioned three (3) year period. However, at the discretion of Roger Elwood, the story may be released within said period for publication in an award anthology and/or a one-author collection. I hold the publisher and Roger Elwood harmless in the event of legal action for libel and/or any other suit arising from my treatment of the story.
